

Den norske Rhododendronforening

Welcome to The Norwegian Rhododendron Society

The Norwegian Rhododendron Society was established in 1997. We have around 400 members. The society has four chapters in different parts of Norway. Local activities are social meetings, lectures, garden visits and sometimes local co-work projects with municipal park authorities. Both chapters and the main society arrange tours in Norway and abroad to visit private Rhododendron gardens and public parks.

The society's magazine, Lapprosen (Norwegian name for Rhododendron lapponicum), is published three times a year. It contains mostly articles and photos about Rhododendron culture in Norway, but also about travels abroad to visit gardens, plant hunting tours and historical articles. Since spring 2023, Magnolias and Camellias are included in the focus of the society's work.

The Norwegian Rhododendron Society has its own seed list which is released in January. It is open for both members and others. Seed donations are most welcome! Questions about seed orders and donations: sveinerik.tonnesen@outlook.com

The society's web site can be found at <http://www.rhododendron.no/>
Membership can be achieved under the flag Bli medlem on the top page.
Annual membership fee is 350 NOK (€ 35, £ 31, $ 42).
